Dear Students and parents, Artificial Intelligence is rapidly reshaping how students in primary and high schools learn, solve problems, and express creativity. Familiarity with key AI tools prepares students for academic success and the future digital world. Here's a curated overview of must-know AI tools and platforms, with direct access links for easy exploration. I believe that we must begin using these tools and we will learn more about them as we use, as we have done with smart phones.

For Primary School Students:

1.Socratic by Google: This app helps young learners solve questions in math, science, and humanities by snapping photos or typing queries. It offers step-by-step explanations, making concepts easier to grasp. <https://socratic.org>

2. LittleLit AI: Specially designed for children aged 6-14, it introduces fundamentals of AI, offers coding lessons, and fosters creativity through fun projects and interactive homework helpers. <https://littlilit.ai>

3.Scratch AI: A visual programming platform where kids can learn coding basics by creating stories, games, and animations, integrating simple AI concepts. <https://scratch.mit.edu>

4. Minecraft Education with AI: This platform lets students build and learn coding in a game-based environment, promoting problem-solving and collaboration with AI-driven modules. <https://education.minecraft.net>

For High School Students:

1. ChatGPT (OpenAI): A conversational AI that assists with homework, research, brainstorming, and even coding support. It provides instant, detailed answers across subjects. <https://chat.openai.com>

2.Notion AI: This productivity platform integrates AI to help students plan, take notes, summarize readings, and manage assignments efficiently. <https://www.notion.so/product/ai>

3.Wolfram Alpha: A powerful computational engine for solving complex math and science problems, generating step-by-step explanations, and supporting technical subjects. <https://www.wolframalpha.com>

4.Grammarly & Quillbot: Enhance writing quality through grammar checks, rewriting assistance, and citation generation, critical for essays, applications, and research projects. <https://grammarly.com>
<https://quillbot.com>

5. Elicit & Scholarcy: AI-driven platforms that help summarise, synthesize, and organize academic research, making large volumes of information more manageable. <https://elicit.org>
<https://scholarcy.com>

These AI tools not only help students understand academic subjects but also encourage creativity, organization, and computational skills essential for our times. Empower yourself and empower others, let us continue the journey 'as persons for and with others'.

May God bless us all.

One of the most awaited, fun-filled and exciting events of St.Xavier's High School, Gandhinagar has to be none other than - Quest! Quest is not just an event which is planned, it is an emotion which celebrates the talents of numerous students and provides them a stage to shine. What makes Quest even more interesting is that- it brings back our alumni, not as guests but as the driving forces behind it.

With the same wholesome spirit and a whole new energy, our dynamic batch of 2024-25 was more than delighted to organise Quest 2025 on 11-12th July within the vibrant walls of our school. Six tremendous teams from different schools participated in 3 distinct rounds and gave their opinions. There was an excellent display of teamwork, critical thinking and presence of mind which left the audience and the judges captivated. The audience also enjoyed singing performances and flute melodies during breaks.

Then, it was time for action, fun, and friendly rivalry as the competitions began. Throughout the day, anchoring was carried out by me, Devanshee, along with my co-hosts Divyangi and Prisha, who together kept the energy up and the transitions smooth between each segment of the event.

We ended the day with our Principal’s words of appreciation, followed by the prize distribution, a vote of thanks by Rohan Sadhwani, a little garba session, and a final group photos to freeze this beautiful day in time.

Quest-2025 was more than just a school event—it was a reminder that collaboration, creativity, and celebration are at the heart of Xavierite life. And for all those who participated, performed, or simply cheered from the crowd, it will be a day remembered for years to come.
